60% of Pinoys doubt SC fairness, says poll

SWS gauges trust on Cha-cha ruling

SIX OUT OF EVERY 10 FILIPINOS ARE "unsure" the Supreme Court will decide fairly on the petition for a people's initiative filed by Sigong Bayan and the Union of Local Authorities of the Philippines (Ulap), according to the third-quarter 2006 Social Weather Stations (SWS) survey.

The finding came across all areas and socioeconomic classes, the SWS said in a statement.

The opinion of most president in Metro Manila (59 percent), followed by 64 percent in the rest of Luzon, 61 percent in the rest of Luzon, and 58 percent in the Visayas.

The sentiment is also shared by 60 percent of respondents in classes ABC, 62 percent in class D and 63 percent in class E.

The survey was conducted from Sept. 24 to Oct. 2 using face-to-face interviews with 1,200 statistically representative households. It had a margin of error of plus or minus 3 percentage points.

Asked if they had "much trust" were aware of his bid that the Supreme Court would make a fair decision on whether to grant the petition of Sigong Bayan and Ulap regarding the people's initiative, 62 percent of the respondents said they were unsure.

Twenty-four percent said they had "little trust" and 13 percent said they had "much trust" that the high tribunal would make a fair decision.

Sigong Bayan and Ulap also filed in the Supreme Court last petition to amend the Constitution via a people's initiative, which entailed the collection of signatures of at least 3 percent of all registered voters in each district nationwide, after it was rejected by the Commission on Elections on Aug. 21.

Last week, Chief Justice Antonio Panganiban admitted that the tribunal—which is expected to decide on the petition by the end of the month—had no authority directly after writing VISITING Thai Prime Minister Surasud Chulabhorn is welcomed by President Macapagal-Arroyo to Malacanang.

GMA honors new Thai premier

By Gil C. Caceres Jr.

THAILAND'S MILITARY UNSTALLED prime minister last night ousted President Macapagal-Arroyo's presidential run seeking to end democracy in a year's time, and she asked him to step down.

Prime Minister Surasud Chulabhorn met with Arroyo at Malacanang shortly after writing in Manila on a lightning five-hour visit to meet with Arroyo.

In their meeting, Chulabhorn gave the President a brief overview of his plans to steer Thailand back to civilian rule.

The visit came toward the end of Surasud's regional tour, during which he had sought to reassure his counterparts of Thailand's return to normalcy following last month's protests. (See related story in The World, Page A20.)

In his speech during the dinner, his Arroyo said "I am confident the continuity of nations, especially Asian Association of South-East Asian Nations (Asean), which you all the best as you undertake the task of adjusting to normalcy following last month's protests. (See related story in The World, Page A20.)

Muslims celebrate Eid'l Fitr, shun terror

By Nash B. Mankana

Inquirer Manila

CITYMAYOR CITY-RELIGIOUS leaders of Islam proudly declared terrorism "haram" (forbidden) during Ramadan, the Islamic month of fasting, marking the end of Ramadan in Muslim-dominated provinces and cities.

The congregational prayers were held in observance of Eid'l Fitr (Feast of Charity). To mark the occasion, President Macapagal-Arroyo declared today a national holiday in the largely Muslim Cordillera region.

Eid'l Fitr marks the end of the Muslim fasting month.

In a letter (written) to a U.S. A.M. congregation at City Hall here, United Methodist Church, a member of the Assembly of Philippine United Methodist Churches of the Philippines, declared terrorism "haram" (forbidden).

"Allah has made it haram to kill children, Allah has made it haram to kill women, Allah has made it haram to kill elderly people," Godwin said.

A similar reading was delivered in various churches and religious leaders had unanimously agreed on a common date to celebrate Eid'l Fitr.

AMM Gen. Zaky U. Amro, president of the Islamic Association of the Philippines, said the Islamic Association of the Philippines (IAP) had decided to celebrate Eid'l Fitr on Oct. 24.

GUIMARAS OIL SPILL

Retrieval a complicated eng'g operation

AN OLD woman hunting for fish along the shores of Nueva Vizcaya, Guimaras.

By Leila B. Salazar

(Special to Inquirer)

EXPERTS ARE FASTTRACKING intricate engineering proposals for the dangerous task of removing the remaining bunker fuel oil from the wrecked MT Solar 1 as environmental insurers and oil companies decide on the most appropriate time to carry out the retrieval operation.

It will not be easy, say Philippine officials and environmentalists, who have been leading their efforts to be financed by the London-based International Oil Pollution Compensation Fund (IOPC), will cover all without a hitch.

TEAM Report

Foreword by the Chief

Just assembling the equipment will take weeks for the operation that will have to take place on a clear day, when the sun is calm.

The Solar 1 was carrying 2.1 million liters of oil for Petro Corp. from Batangas to Zamboanga. It was on its way when it ran aground on Aug. 11 in shallow waters off Guimaras, causing environmental damage to the island's rich marine life and reefs.

Splitting the oil will be a challenge.

Gov't can't stop Sierra Madre illegal logging

LACUNA CITY, ILOILO—THE ILOILO CITY GOVERNMENT has been unable to stop the rampant illegal logging activities that have been operating at the foot of Sierra Madre in northeast Iloilo, a reliable source from among the logging contractors reported Monday.

"The underground operation of mobile base units has again become a lucrative business due to the removal of rampant illegal logging activities. It seems that the contractors have been trained from their illegal income and the government is not doing anything," the informant said.

The informant has been the source of information of government anti-illegal logging operations and environmental groups regarding illegal logging operations in the area.

The mobile-based unit operator is called "tactical" logging operator in Iloilo General. Sierra Madre area, near the informant.

The rest of the "tactical" are based along the Agos River in the village of Pangasinan in Iloilo. There, the place is known as the headquarters for the destruction of newly owned illegal logging units from the houses of Sierra Madre and transported through the river by local handlers," the informant added.

He said the local unit operator commands a high price to re-charge for his services.

"The rate differs in the price depending on the location of the logging site. It's $10 for the unit of new equipment will be used for the operation, the illegal logging could stop," he said.

He added, "Most of the illegal unit operator were being used to anti-forest and forest. The logging operation will be passed off as products of natural forest."

Antonio Chico, head of the local office of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources in Iloilo, said his staff has been warning around the clock to monitor the increased number of illegal logging.

"We've been receiving all kinds of information, even via messages from local residents. We're waiting all feedback and information before we make our move to take any further action," he said.

"We've made to prevent in those cases we have collected all evidence," he added.

Chico said the DENR-licensed operations that have been using the Sierra Madre mobile base units have been established to also include several of multinational firms.

Last week, Antonio Chico, regional director of the DENR, Calabarzon region, announced that they will no longer grant any request for log contracts in the Sierra Madre area.

"The DENR people were just being used as fronts. The requests for permits have been continuing with increasing in size. There are still lots of pending requests to increase and increase mobile base units but we will no longer allow it," Chico said.

WITHIN FOUR HOURS "MELVY" was the premature son. Head Medical Center (HMC) in Pasig City, were responsible for the death of seven babies due to neonatal sepsis on Oct. 4.

But based on the findings of a post-mortem investigation conducted to investigate the deaths, none of the three hospitals involved were negligent in the hospital.

All of them strongly point to some degree of negligence. Health Secretary Francisco Duque III said in a press conference last Saturday.

According to the joint findings, the infant deaths on Oct. 4 could not have been "avoidable" if only the "hundreds of highly fatal, early onset neonatal sepsis."

The stage of the infection, according to the findings, was not detected within 48 hours from birth, indicating that "doctors in the intensive care unit were negligent in not detecting neonatal sepsis."

Had it been "late onset sepsis" or acquired within more than 48 hours from birth, the hospital would have been considered in the sepsis, according to Dr. Francisco Duque, National Child Development Center (NCD) chief.

But since the deaths were a case of early onset sepsis, they could not have been hospital-acquired—the infection was made from the mother.

on "sepsis" because from January to Oct. 27, the infection killed six more in the hospital in HMC, up from 40 during the same period last year, according to the findings.

PCU prexy won't quit, denies loan accusation

By Yusef Sando

THE PRESIDENT OF PHILIPPINE Christian University (PCU) yesterday said he is not considering resigning from his position as president and vice president of the university.

"I'm not resigning because I have a commitment to the university and I will stay in my position," he said.

Last week, heavily indebted members of PCU's board of trustees were in a dispute over Sando's management style and his involvement in the allegedly illegal disbursement of university funds.

Sando, who is now a president of the PCU company, said he is not considering resigning from his position as president and vice president of the university.

'Wowowee' victims to file suit vs ABS-CBN

NBI employees call off protest vs new official

By Ednan E. Tanabe Jr.

THE RELATIVES OF VICTIMS OF THE "Wowowee" slayings had February at the Philippine Amex (Wowowee) filed suits to file a class-action against TV network ABS-CBN and its chief executive officer Eugene "Gabby" Lopez III.

There is now probable cause for the suits," Philippine Amex, Citicorp and Compaq-branching chief Cesar Jimenez said, citing the Department of Justice decision in the incident investigation resulting in multiple homicide and physical injuries against the victims.

The lawyers of DICT will now proceed with the completion of a suit for the suits, which group is helping the victims.

Lotharios at the Court of Appeals?

HERE'S A TRICK I GOT FROM AN insider at the Court of Appeals:

One of the court's division clerks of court (they are 17 at court), allegedly told us that with a photograph, suit was secured.

The good-looking clerk of court was involved in the relationship because, according to my source, "I'm not a girl," she says, in his words, the photograph is a photo, in relation, the photographer confessed to her husband, an immigration agent, about the matter.

The husband, a guy named in the suit, asked the clerk of court to confirm the guy who made a

A CA justice asked the Rome in life his early retirement to escape from an administrative case, but the advice was not without any vested interest.

The same CA justice allegedly asked somebody to ask to replace the retired justice.

The justice has become back back, as it nothing happened, the photographer was asked to resign. The justice didn't want the scandal to reach the media in the CA, according to my source, is allegedly a Puyuan Puyuan, with money "moving" during the guy's in married woman at the appellate court.

For that matter, affairs between married men and women are common in many government offices. That's the reason the national legislature has remained.

Speaking of moving (the real meaning), the Catholic Church in Cebu is a billion it's trying to prevent the building of an airport terminal in the province.

EMPLOYEES WHO WERE FLOODING TO hold a protest against the appointment of former Manila police chief Danilo Balang as assistant director of the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) have accepted their plan after the agency's top official called for suit and lawsuit resolution.

In a statement distributed to media, the employees, who were not identified, said they called off the scheduled protest recently inside the NBI station "to give way to the ongoing process and study of the situation."

They stated, however, that while they had decided to hold the call-off NBI Director Ramon Martinez for suit, they would continue to fight for the bureau's public dignity and honor. Before Balang's appointment to the post, some employees had posted the appointment of an insider.

In a previous statement, some NBI personnel had accused that Balang's appointment was a "big blow to the NBI's public image as an agency for the professionalization and institutionalization of its career officials."

HAVE YOU EVER HEARD OF "SEE TV COMMERCIAL FOR DETAILS"?

Of course not. Because TV just doesn't allow you to include important details. You can try cramming it in 30 seconds but chances are, you'll end up with very confused viewers. That's when the power of print comes in. Print ads and posters allow you to communicate completely. They make your market read, understand and buy. So if you really want to get to your target, use posters and print ads for details.

There's more to print.

Warriors rise from ruins of UAAP campaign

By Jasmine N. Pags

IT WON'T TAKE LONG FOR THE UNIVERSITY of the East (UE) to get back on its feet. Just a month after their UAAP debacle, the Warriors landed the Collegiate Champions League trophy, riding a momentum that lived on the court.

"I tried to include my team's best, but I was downed by my best," said UE coach Chino Garcia. "The fact that we made it through only five UAAP teams is a testament to our strength."

UE coach Chino Garcia said that the team's success was due to their strong defense.

Dolly Anne Caragall

She captivated the audience to embrace (Dolly) in their support stage. The crowd, played along, however, P1,000 bills and more.

Binoe sang live and Regine kept looking like a beauty, for the first time, her sweet self. Dolly danced when Regine finally calls "My President" because her president at 1 minute and she's the VP (President) and Regine (Dolly) passed down strength. They brought the house down with their emotional rendition of "Muli Nigayon Ka Lang?" I was shocked when Regine mentioned my mother's name. "Pardon my belated voice, Binoe to us a Air Lady (Dolly) beautiful."

The bill has a nice effect after singing her heart out during her 20th anniversary concert. But she didn't stop her from giving her all the time.

What could be the reason when Binoe approached me. It's been ages since we "were" together. "In the headlines and things around me because we. Shortly after the ceremony broke out, he got interrupted.

As my mother's mother, Binoe and I signed each other. My friends told me that while I was crying by my Mom's casket, Binoe was watching from afar.

My friends told me that while I was crying by my Mom's casket, Binoe was watching from afar.

NO IVILL: Binoe and Regine are set to perform in a back-to-back concert.
